Planning Across Departments

Planning The Great and Grand Rumpus took months. Like with any program there are many aspects to consider. These are:

- Budget (break downs into materials, staffing, comms and so on)
- Timeline for the program (include public facing as well as inward facing milestones)
- cultural mapping across teams: what does each team, community group need to fulfil for their funding requirements, stakeholders and so on
- Set and agree upon job roles and milestones for those across the teams
- The best way to communicate across teams and within teams

Hello team,

Sorry this is hand written but I think it helps make sense of each element and their stories and links. It will help us talk about the overall story world in this afternoons meeting.
